Trophy descriptions & source notes:-

Portman Lewis Mixed Handicap Singles: no longer presented; a 'silver' cup/bowl with ornate handles (c.1931) on a dark base. The bowl is engraved "Richmond Cricket Club Men's Lawn Tennis Handicap Singles, presented by Portman Lewis". Winners' names 1931-2000 are engraved around the bowl itself. The identity of Portman Lewis is not known. Despite its engraved designation as a "Men's" trophy, the 1995 champion, current member Tony Hall, testifies to the fact that this was a mixed (ie. Men and Women) handicap event, and Andy Jenkins (1989 winner) confirms this. Winners' names are engraved on the cup for the year 1931 (Neville) to 2000 (McKeown). Female winners definitely include Ruth Berger (1996) and possibly three-time winner E. L. Snowden (1966, 1967, 1971) – if this is the same person as the "E Snowden" who twice won the Ladies Doubles (1967, 1968). NB. There are other spelling variations in the club records that suggest "Snowdon" and "Snowden" to be well within the range of tolerance, although E L Snowden could be male.

RLTC Boys Singles: no longer presented; a 'silver' cup/goblet (c.1939) with no handles and free-standing (ie. no base). The bowl, with its ornate lower portion, is engraved simply "R.C.C." (ie. Richmond Cricket Club) reflecting the fact that the Tennis section (founded 1878) was a branch of the Cricket Club. Winners' names are engraved on the bowl of the cup. The corresponding Champions display board refers to the "Richmond L.T.C. Junior Championships". According to Cameron Kavanagh, asked by Iain Ure, this was a Boys (under 16) Singles event: his dad, N. Kavanagh, was the 1973 champion. Some names among the winners crop up in other Men's events – eg. Shaddock, Zierhofer, Pinnington, Patsalides. The goblet carries names from 1939 (Dixon) to 1986 (Allisat), although not in a continuous sequence; there are gaps for the years 1947-60 and for 1982-84. A Champions display board for "Richmond L.T.C. Junior Championships" supplements this information, with Boys entries for the years 1971-1988, but misses out the years 1983 and 1984 (NB> the board also includes Girls champions for the same years). Of note overall is the entry for 1940 (Austin), it being the only recorded RLTC tennis title won actually during the years of World War 2.

RLTC Girls Singles: no longer presented; if there was a physical trophy awarded for this event, its whereabouts are no longer known. The event is only known from the Champions display board carrying R.L.T.C. Junior Championship winners (Boys and Girls). Titled "Richmond L.T.C. Junior Championships", the board survives in the Tennis Hut and carries winners for the Boys and Girls Singles for the years 1971-1988. There are no entries for either event in 1983 and 1984 (the sequence skips from 1982 to 1985), and there is no entry for the Girls event against the year 1986 (although a Boys champion is listed).

RLTC Boys/Men's Singles: no longer presented; a 'silver' goblet (c.1975) with no handles and an ornate pattern around the cup. The cup bowl is engraved "Richmond Lawn Tennis Club" and was evidently presented for a Men's or Boy's Singles event. The story behind this trophy is not now fully understood. The range of names engraved on this cup spans only 11 years from 1975 (Richards) to 1985 (Allisat). Within that period, the gap 1983-1984 results apparently from the engraved names on the cup having worn to illegibility – OR are there simply no entries for those years, as with the Boys/Girls singles – CHECK. The trophy is evidently for a male singles event because the name "D. Zierhofer" (1976) crops up also in the Men's Doubles winners list (1979). The fact also that the 1979 winner C. M. Pinnington was also Boys Singles winner just two years later (1981) strongly suggests this trophy was for some Boy's singles event.
